

BOUNCING BABY BOY, BUT SEE THE TROUBLE HE CAUSED HIS MOTHER

New York.—Mrs. Bridget Peixotto, former New York school teacher, will have plenty of time now to rock the cradle of her much-coveted baby since she lost her position in School 14 because she insisted on taking a vacation to bring a little human being into the world.

WILL HELP FORMER HUSBAND MAKE CHARGES GOOD

A divorced wife will help her former husband today in the Hyde Park police court prove his charges that some of the evidence he brought against her at the time of the divorce trial was perjured.

The husband, M. Bruce Anderson, 1151 E. 55th street, had trouble with his wife last year and she left. Samuel A. Neff, 744 E. 43d street, came to him, it is claimed, and offered to sell him evidence against Mrs. Anderson for $100. Anderson finally purchased it for $27.

Anderson then applied for divorce. When the case came up Neff did not appear and the evidence he sold to Anderson was refuted. But Anderson got his divorce on other evidence.

Now Anderson has procured a warrant charging Neff with selling false evidence and the former Mrs. Anderson will testify in support of his charge.
